Dear Colleagues:

On behalf of Richard Veit, Faculty Director of CETL, Library Dean Ravi Sharma, and myself, I welcome you to this Twenty-Fourth Annual Monmouth University Authors Reception. This program is one of the high points of our academic year, as we take pleasure in celebrating the achievements of our faculty authors who have published scholarly books and creative works - - no mean feat given the time challenges and choices we all face. This work, as well as all of the contributions listed in the booklet made for this occasion by our library colleagues, underscores our pivotal roles as the intellectual core of Monmouth University and leading scholars and creative artists in our fields. Perhaps more important, we bring our scholarly and creative efforts as "teacher-scholars" into the classroom and share with students the latest thinking in our disciplines and inspire them to pursue high standards in their own academic work. Please join me in congratulating our faculty authors today; enjoy the moment and continue with your own scholarly endeavors so that we may have the pleasure of honoring you in the near future.

With all good wishes,

Thomas S. Pearson

Windows into Men’s Souls: Religious Nonconformity in Tudor and Early Stuart England
By Kenneth L. Campbell
Publisher: Lexington Books

Windows into Men’s Souls uses the works of John Robinson, Thomas Helwys, and John Smyth to examine the concept of religious nonconformity that was inherent in the English Reformation. Kenneth Campbell frames the primary works and historical development of various groups and individuals as examples of a general impulse toward religious nonconformity during the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries.

Impossible to Please: How to Deal with Perfectionist Coworkers, Controlling Spouses, and Other Incredibly Critical People
By Neil J. Lavender & Alan A. Cavaiola
Publisher: New Harbinger

“Impossible to Please is a candid, informative, and thought-provoking study of the controlling perfectionist. Lavender and Cavaiola illuminate our understanding of obsessive-compulsive personality disorder while providing suggested actions for dealing effectively with these individuals at home, at work, and in the community.”

Why Politics Matters: An Introduction to Political Science
By Kevin L. Dooley & Joseph N. Patten
Publisher: Wadsworth

This introduction to Political Science is organized around the major division of the field: theory, American government, comparative politics, and international relations. It provides a foundational approach to learning and gives students a “big picture” of the field.

The Book of Unknowing:
A Poet’s Response to the Gospel of John
By David Sten Herrstrom
Publisher: Wipf and Stock

The Book of Unknowing meditates on John’s confrontation with the incandescent Jesus, a figure of our desire for immortality. Guiding us through the Gospel’s coming to grips with Jesus, the poet David Sten Herrstrom prefers sparking the imagination to arguing a thesis, as he explores John’s own obsessions, such as image (light), symbol (water), sign (water to wine), shapeliness (symmetry), loves (Peter, Mary’s), and above all, words (the Word, the body of Jesus).
This step-by-step approach concentrates on the most common out-of-control behaviors the author has encountered in his extensive work with parents and children. It teaches a uniquely effective strategy for managing an out-of-control child: the behavior contract. With this technique, you can establish clearly what you expect from your child and make clear the consequences when he or she does—or does not—exercise behavior control.
