Marshal Law Declared by Adm; Students War on Adm. Declaration

ROCKY BRINKLEY SPEAKS ON ADMINISTRATION

MC students returned from their Christmas vacation to find their campus overrun with police. Everywhere they went they were confronted by uniformed guards. In a press release issued by the administration it was stated that this action was taken because many students were exemplifying conduct unbecoming a MC student. No one particular incident caused this action but rather many. The fact that a member of the safety patrol was run over in a parking lot rumble was one such incident. Another was an act of grand larceny committed by 15 students as they held up the Library for money received in fines and the theft of 20,000 editions from the same building. Still another was the riot in the New Great Cafeteria concerning 500 students trying to get food from the kitchen.

Mr. Yanchik said he resented the term Marshal Law and said it was definite misnomer. He proposed that it was merely Administrative Supervision. He further stated that he had no idea how long this will continue but said the college will continue in its efforts to once again regain peace and tranquility to the campus and its students. He went on to say that on Friday there would be machine guns stationed at strategic points, the Great Fence will become electrified and Fort Monmouth will be assisting the school by supplying tanks.

In a statement issued by the Attorney General, he stated that we as a nation must do everything we can to help this young institution get started on the right foot and if he is elected to another office he will do his to the best of his ability. "Thank you!"

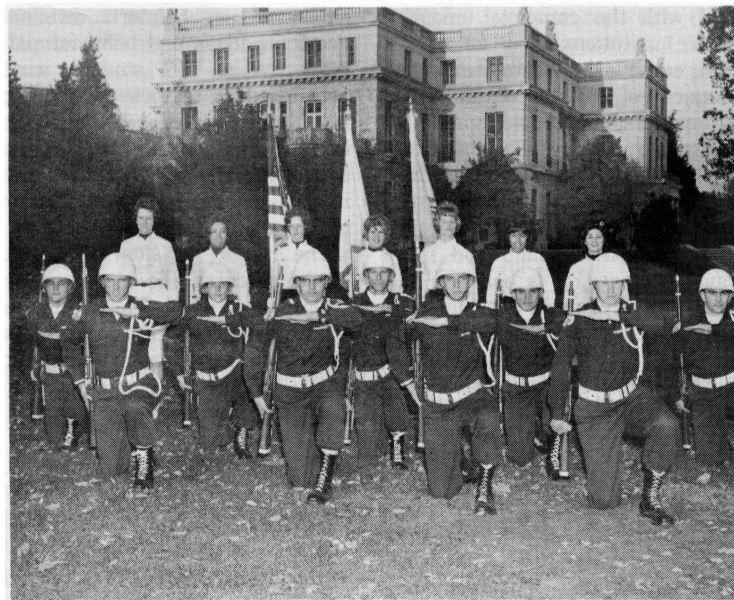

Mr. Roosevelt, Long Branch City Manager, could not be reached but did leave a statement for the press, "It is about time that MC is doing something about the wild students they enroll in that institution; they have my upmost support."

Dean Murtha did not have the time for a formal interview but he did arrange for a brief conference. While he was putting on his Civil Defense helmet he stated that he was certainly glad he had enrolled in the physical fitness course and to be truthful he thought he would never put it to any use. He had to leave in the middle of the interview because his post (Teachers' Lounge fourth floor) was undefended.

Dr. Gilbert, head of the Education Department, said the administration (Continued on page 4)

P. D. HUNTLEY SPEAKS ON STUDENTS

Upon entering the encampment of the Student Retaliation force this reporter was brought to the Commander-in-Chief, George Alzenauer. At length he discussed for the first time the military preparations and activities taking place in the defense of the Marshal Law edict which the students prefer be called war.

As related: Kappa Beta Sigma, winner of the Zeta Upsilon Sigma athletic trophy, composes the front line defense entrenched in Cedar Avenue preventing the enemy from breaking through the line to the Student Union which has been taken over as Student Body Headquarters.

The Voice of Monmouth has set up communications on all fronts using MC cheers as code (unfortunately no one seems to know them). It was reassuring to hear that one can tune in station BMOC to hear the voice of freedom since the hollowed walls are sound proof.

The Blue Grenadiers captured the first victory of the struggle at the Battle of the Great Swamp and took the Bridge at Brookwillow. Troops now occupy the Education building recently renamed after the successful campaign--Brookwillow. As the east front wages on, the wrestling team is conducting gorilla warfare between parked cars in the parking lot. Beware--the camouflaged Volkswagon may be a classmate.

IFSC has taken up the cause transforming itself into the Indignant Frightened Student Committee. (Note from their social director--the first open party on campus in years will be held tomorrow, donation of $1.50 a head gratefully accepted to insure your entrance. All proceeds are going for the free victory party if their efforts are successful.

Tau Kappa Beta and Tau Lambda Chi have gallantly melted down their recently acquired Dean's Trophy to buy guns and ammunition from the Hawk's Nest (known sympathizers to the cause).

The National Student Association has received a tremendous amount of support from colleges and universities throughout the country; and as soon as they return from a convention in California concerned with successful campaign slogans, they will to work. Meanwhile they issued a statement explaining the necessity to reject the example handbook for riots and disturbances from Berkeley and Princeton stating that Monmouth is not old enough to exhibit such behavior and get away with it.

In every Greek house members are fervently at work making arm bands in between calling on the Telephone Drive to Alumni for monetary support.

Proceedings were called to a halt for a 24 hours truce while the Career Seminar with representatives from Big Business meet with students to discuss future openings in agitation and internal strife.

As the troops gather round the fire for warmth on this cold evening their thoughts wonder to the sailing team, now the schools naval force patrolling the Great Lake and adjoining fountains and pools.

The unselfish work of the Monmouth Players and the Collegians, who are entertaining the troops, is greatly appreciated by the armed forces. These performers have given up their homes, jobs and left their text books during exam period to boost morale and spirit. It is amazing how well the men have endured the agony of not entering a saloon, bar, tavern, dive, etc. for the past twenty-four hours.

Small inter-conflict took place as THE LOOKOUT and the Fencing team (which is guarding the offices of the press) battled out which is mightier, the pen or the sword.

Hold everything I see the jury for the recent court martial case has come out Excuse me I didn't mean to keep you waiting. The head of the Judicial Council, which has finally obtained complete jurisdiction over all offenses committed on campus, stated that a verdict of not guilty was reached for 15 freshman accused accordingly of desertion and being AWOL. It seems the accused were able to substantiate that some had to leave the scene offighting to call home once a day to assure their parents they were eating properly and others had to leave on weekends so that Mothers' could launder their fatigues.

Statement from the members of the Model United Nations: "Where did we fail, all these years of training and we haven't been able to convince our own that where there is a place to talk there is chance of peace." Statement from the SGA budget committee: "Because of activities and remarks bearing the rade mark of un-American student activities the recently passed budget of MUN is now null and void.

Well that's all from the home front, night folks.

istration does not understand the emotional, social, education, and intellectual development of the college student. "Now if we were to use a little knowledge on these students I'm sure we could bring them around to our way of thinking. If this didn't work we could spank them."

Dr. Ficca couldn't be contacted for a statement on the psychological effect this affair would have on the faculty since he was at his defense unit (Ficca Hall).

Mr. Tucker of the Music Department was not really too concerned about the entire situation. The only statement he made was that he wished that they could muffle the cannons in some way because "I keep losing the beat to Schubert's 'Unfinished Symphony,' and the cannons never come in at the right time in the '1812 Overture'."

President Van Note stated that he had great faith in the entire student body.
