

Peace Out of Style ?

Peace is out of style. Five years ago, everyone was wearing pins saying "End the War" and "Peace." How often do you see that now? But there is still an immoral, unjustified war going on, in any part of the world you wish to name. Peace is out of style. But peace is not dead. There are still people and organizations trying to end the war and trying to fight oppression in this country. Some call it a revolution. It does exist.

If you feel that this country is unfair in its legal and illegal procedures, if you feel war is wrong, if you don't believe in a situation where some have lots of money and others have none, come to the Student Union Building Lounge, Wednesday night, February 23 around 7:30. Help us organize a peace group on campus. We will have speakers on draft evasion, Nixon's peace plan and the moratorium in April. There will be a draft counselor present, giving advice. If you believe in peace, come.
